Abu Dhabi

dear VISITORS

TIME AND AGAIN VISITORS TELL ME that the choice of dining options in Abu Dhabi is nothing short of bewildering – I think they are referring to the sheer volume and diversity of restaurants.

This booklet is aimed at making the choice a little less bewildering – because I can promise that the number of restaurants will not decrease – indeed with our hospitality portfolio growing, it can only increase. With almost 400 to choose from, including over 150 new additions, you'll not be disappointed.

What we are doing here, is give you more information on which to base your dining choices, though I would urge you to sample as much diversity as you can while in Abu Dhabi. There is no doubt that we are spoilt for choice when it comes to diversity of cuisine, as well as the standard of food and service – and long may it continue.

These days you can choose to sample authentic Emirati cuisine in a fine dining setting, take in dinner while you cruise Abu Dhabi Corniche, visit trendy, brand-name restaurants and award-winning outlets that have 'arrived' in Abu Dhabi from the world's entertainment capitals, or relax at beachside barbeques while taking in superb Arabian Gulf views. There are an increasing number of restaurants which let you dine outside during our superb winter months – and, of course, our town centres offer great value outlets where you can relish the cuisine of a different nation every night of the week.

And for those for whom food really is a passion, I can personally recommend our annual culinary festival – Gourmet Abu Dhabi. Over 16 days and nights in February the world's best chefs and gastronomic experts arrive in Abu Dhabi to join our expanding group of hospitality professionals in cooking up nightly feasts, and staging master classes to pass on their valued knowledge, and absorb some of our own. You can keep up-dated on this fabulous event on www.gourmetabudhabi.ae – I hope to see you there.

Bon Appétit – Bil Afia.

OVERVIEW

Restaurants & Cafés

Cuisine from around the world mingles in Abu Dhabi, with restaurants offering a vibrant and varied mix of international flavours and impressive culinary standards, there is something to satisfy every taste and budget.

Hotel restaurants are allowed to serve alcohol and these are complemented by many superb, unlicensed outlets throughout the emirate.

All food outlets are checked regularly for hygiene by Abu Dhabi Food Control Authority.

Non-Muslims can consume pork in certain outlets – any dishes using pork ingredients will be prepared separately from non-pork dishes, and clearly marked on the menu.

Abu Dhabi's nightlife is a fast-paced combination of acclaimed restaurants, lively bars and pubs.

Taxes, Service Charges & Tipping

Many fine dining and high end restaurants may add a service charge (usually around 10%) and a tourism levy of 6% (in hotel restaurants only) to your bill. These charges are often included in the menu prices and the menu will denote when they are. You may choose to reward your waiter directly with a tip – the usual is 10%.

An Introduction to Arabian Cuisine

Essential to any cooking in the Arabian Gulf is the concept of hospitality and generosity. For generations, dining has traditionally been celebrated and shared with a great deal of warmth over the dinner table – in the early days set under cover of Bedouin tents beneath an infinite blanket of stars of the desert sky. Visitors can experience this age-old dining tradition at a plethora of contemporary restaurants, heritage desert camps, and traditional sailing dhows – as well as an array of exciting streetside cafes and restaurants across Abu Dhabi.

In keeping with an historic trading past, fresh produce is readily available. Rise early to catch a glimpse of the plentiful bounty of the Arabian Gulf at Mina Fish Souk – but ‘choose wisely’ to assist sustainable fishing practices – and the Al Mina Fruit & Vegetable Souk is bursting with colour as each seller arranges his produce outside the shops. Even if you are not buying, this area provides excellent photo opportunities.

Today’s visitor can expect an Arabian inspired dinner using the freshest local produce and an assortment of regional spices. Usually consisting of a platter, dishes are prepared using time-honoured techniques, incorporating lamb or chicken, or both as separate dishes, with aromatic rice accompanied by fresh, occasionally spiced seasonal vegetables. Often, a platter of mezze – a selection of four or five appetiser dishes to share – is served with dinner, and sweet desserts, such as Baklava round off the dinner with a traditional Arabian coffee.

Local Cuisine & Restaurants

Take advantage of the opportunity to sample Emirati food – a reflection of the UAE's trading heritage – infused with spices and ingredients from throughout Asia and the Middle East. Cinnamon, saffron and turmeric, along with nuts, limes and dried fruit heighten the flavour of Emirati dishes, some of the most popular of which are Al Harees, a dish of meat and wheat slow-cooked in a clay oven or pot and served with ghee, and Al Majboos, made by boiling meat in water to which a distinctive blend of spices and dried limes are added. Fish is a mainstay of many local dishes with Al Madrooba, a mix of salted fish, spices and thick sauce being one of the most popular while rice is ever present and is most often served with saffron, nuts and spices.

You'll find Emirati cuisine at:

One of the UAE's first restaurants to serve authentic Emirati cuisine, this is tucked away in the Al Dhafra Tourist Village near Mina Zayed Fish Market. It serves an array of salads, starters and traditional regional favourites.

Al Maqam

Dine in true Emirati style at this barasti-themed dining hall or on the palm-thatch covered terrace that runs along the restaurant at Arabian Nights Village – a heritage destination in the desert near Al Ain which gives visitors a chance to experience the mythical and timeless beauty of the desert and traditional Emirati life. Choose from dining tables, low sofas, or traditional cushion floor seating.

Café Arabia

Get a real feel for Arabia at this unique café opposite Mushrif Park. The menu lets you taste authentic Arabian dishes, much as you would find in any Arab home. Try the full Arabian breakfast to get you off to a great start. Enjoy the small touches which make a difference – including the menus, fashioned from fans made by Emirati women using dried date palm leaves. There's also a range of regional souvenirs which make great gifts for back home. Also check out its forthcoming cultural events and join in to learn more about the region.

Food On The Go

From shawarma to falafel, streetside cafés offer a range of quick and delicious snacks including the popular and inexpensive shawarma – rolled pita bread filled with lamb or chicken carved from a rotating spit. Shawarma's cost around AED 5. Shawarma stands usually sell other snacks including falafel, small savoury balls made of mashed chickpeas and sesame seeds which are eaten as they are, or rolled into pita bread with salad. Another popular snack 'to go' is manakish, cheese melted between folded pita bread. A variation is the zaatar manakish where the cheese is mixed with zaatar ground herbs (usually thyme, oregano and marjoram), sesame seeds and olive oil.

Fruit Juices

Fresh fruit juices are an Abu Dhabi speciality and are made to order from orange, mango, banana, kiwi, strawberry, avocado, melon, pomegranate, and pineapple – or a mix of several of these.

Arabian Sweets

No trip to Abu Dhabi is complete without trying traditional Arabian sweets, including the much-loved Baklava generally made from chopped nuts and layers of pastry bound with honey and syrup. Often served with coffee, Baklava is served throughout the Arab world though in the UAE they are traditionally made of filo pastry filled with pistachios or pine nuts, sweetened with honey and sprinkled with cinnamon.

Coffee

The serving of traditional Arabic coffee (ghahwa) is a social ritual. Local coffee comes blended with cardamom and saffron, served in tiny, handle-less cups.

Choose Fish Wisely

The 'Choose Wisely' campaign is run by the Emirates Wildlife Society and the World Wildlife Fund For Nature to protect the future of UAE fisheries. In the UAE some species are being overfished beyond sustainable levels. Here are some tips from the campaign to help you choose the fish which are currently at sustainable levels. You can find out more on

www.choosewisely.ae

Think again before ordering the following over-fished species:

Hammour, Painted Sweetlips, Kingfish, Goldlined Seabream, White Spotted Spinefoot, Spangled Emperor, Snub Nose Emperor and Golden Trevally.

The following are a good choice but there's better:

Small Tooth Emperor, Long Tail Silver Biddy, King Solider Bream and Black Spot Snapper.

Go For It! The following are not experiencing heavy fishing pressure.

Orange Spotted Trevally, Two bar Seabream, Black Streaked Monocle Bream, Yellow Bar Angelfish, Pink Ear Emperor, Sordid Sweetlips and Ehrenbergs Snapper.

Local Harvest

A top-tip for guests in Abu Dhabi's wide range of apartment hotels seeking high quality, fresh local produce is to look out for Local Harvest branded goods – a brand developed by the Abu Dhabi Farmers' Service Centre – that demonstrates the diversity of fresh and safe local fruit, vegetables, poultry, meat, eggs and others from farms in Abu Dhabi. These products are delivered to their chain of retail outlets – Souq Supermarkets – and other retailers the day after harvest.
